David Broza live on Tzuzamen

Superstar Israeli singer, songwriter, peace activist – David Broza is a talented artist who wears many hats.

Join Israeli writer, director, and producer Tzipi Trope and philanthropist and producer Tzili Charney for a wide-ranging discussion with the legendary performer about his music and activism and how the two can form a bridge to peace and tolerance.

Broza, whose grandfather founded Neve Shalom, the Arab-Israeli cooperative village near Latrun, has worked for peace and understanding throughout his forty-three-year musical career.

In his candid dialogue with Tzipi and Tzili, he shares stories of the impact of his 1977 hit song "Yihyeh Tov" (Things will Get Better), his work with Palestinian musicians, and his "One Million Guitars" initiative, which has transformed the lives of children around the world through music.

Broza, who was born in Israel and grew up in England and Spain, is a talented and accomplished guitarist and performer who fuses the musical influences of Europe, America, and Israel.
